

Human Services and Natural Support Partnership Training

VVDB offers innovative and exciting one and two day workshops on establishing human services and natural support community partnerships, and follow-up coaching and consultation.

VVDB Workshops:

- Blending Formal Services with Natural Supports
- Developing Connections with Faith-Based Organizations
- Wraparound in Faith-Based Organizations
- Building Reciprocal Partnerships

Who can benefit from this training and coaching?

Human services, faith-based and community action organizations interested in building community partnerships.

VVDB also offers:

- Keynote addresses and conference presentations. Keynote addresses and conference presentations on human services and natural support community partnerships
- Assessments. We will come to your community and meet with your management teams and community organizations to assess needs, design and increase these essential partnerships.
- On-site coaching. We provide direct coaching (hands-on support and follow-up) and provide the support to establish local trainers and coaches who can carry on the support of these efforts after VVDB staff are no longer working in the community.

VVDB Lead Staff. VVDB has experienced trainers and coaches to lead this area of development. Rev. Norman Moon has over 25 years in the ministry, has worked with the Federation of Families for Children's Mental Health and as a Wraparound Coach and Trainer. Michele Stewart-Copes, MSW, managed an innovative demonstration of the use of natural supports and the wraparound process, in Hartford, CT, and has worked for VVDB across the U.S. VVDB staff have presented the model at the National Federation of Families for Children's Mental Health Conference in Washington D.C. and the National Building on Family Strengths Conference in Portland, Oregon. VVDB is currently establishing faith-based partnerships in Colorado, Connecticut and other sites around the U.S. Please contact Rev. Moon or Ms. Stewart-Copes for more information.
